Notice to Residents of Harbour Lane

The water supply on Harbour Lane will be interrupted on Thursday 19 November between nine in the morning and three in the afternoon while the old cast iron main is replaced. Residents are asked to keep a few bottles of drinking water at hand and to avoid running washing machines during the works.

Traffic will be diverted through Mill Street. Parking spaces in front of numbers 12 to 40 will be closed from Wednesday evening, and vehicles left there may be moved by the contractor. Pedestrian access to every house remains open at all times.

Questions about the works can be sent to the neighbourhood office, which is open on weekdays from eight thirty until noon. A second notice will be delivered if the schedule changes because of bad weather.

Chapter Seven

The ferry was late again, and the small crowd on the pier had begun to drift towards the café, where the owner was already stacking chairs against the rain. Agnes stayed by the railing with her suitcase.

“Why not tonight, then?”

Her brother did not answer at once. He watched the lights of the far shore come on one by one, as if he were counting them, and then he shrugged and picked up the heavier of the two bags.

The last boat of the season left the harbour at a quarter past nine.

Nobody on board spoke much during the crossing. The engine was loud, the benches were wet, and the captain kept the cabin door closed against the wind until they reached the other side.

On the far side the road climbed steeply between stone walls, and by the time they reached the house the rain had stopped and the sky over the bay had turned a pale and washed-out green.

3. Introduction to CSF Profiles and Tiers

This section defines the concepts of CSF Profiles and Tiers.

3.1. CSF Profiles

A CSF Organizational Profile describes an organization's current and/or target cybersecurity posture in terms of the Core's outcomes. Organizational Profiles are used to understand, tailor, assess, prioritize, and communicate the Core's outcomes by considering an organization's mission objectives, stakeholder expectations, threat landscape, and requirements. An organization can then prioritize its actions to achieve specific outcomes and communicate that information to stakeholders.

Every Organizational Profile includes one or both of the following:

1. A Current Profile specifies the Core outcomes that an organization is currently achieving (or attempting to achieve) and characterizes how or to what extent each outcome is being achieved.
2. A Target Profile specifies the desired outcomes that an organization has selected and prioritized for achieving its cybersecurity risk management objectives. A Target Profile considers anticipated changes to the organization's cybersecurity posture, such as new requirements, new technology adoption, and threat intelligence trends.

> A Community Profile is a baseline of CSF outcomes that is created and published to address shared interests and goals among a number of organizations. A Community Profile is typically developed for a particular sector, subsector, technology, threat type, or other use case. An organization can use a Community Profile as the basis for its own Target Profile. Examples of Community Profiles can be found on the NIST CSF website.

The steps shown in Fig. 3 and summarized below illustrate one way that an organization could use an Organizational Profile to help inform continuous improvement of its cybersecurity.

Field trip to the Lindau salt marshes

The trip is part of the biology course and is compulsory for both year-nine classes. The details below are also posted on the school website.

Wednesday 18 November: the coach leaves the school gate at 7.45 and returns at about 17.30. Pupils bring a packed lunch, boots and a waterproof jacket.

Journey time: ninety minutes.

The guided walk along the dyke takes two hours. Groups of twelve stay with their teacher and do not leave the marked path at any point of the walk.

18 pupils still owe the consent form.

Your questions can be sent to the class teacher by Friday. A short report on the birds counted during the walk will be shown at the parents' evening in December.

All costs are paid by the school.

Pupils who cannot take part spend the day in the library with an assignment on coastal wetlands.
