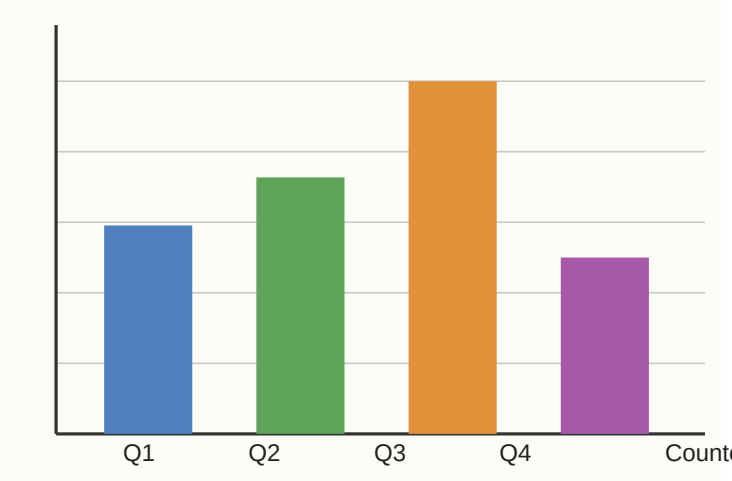
Quarterly visitors

The museum counted its visitors at the entrance gates in every quarter of the year. The chart shows the totals in thousands; school groups are included in every quarter.



Counted at the entrance gates, all four quarters

Visits peaked in the third quarter, when the summer exhibition opened. The winter months were quieter than in the previous year because the east wing was closed for repairs. School groups made up about a fifth of all visits in every quarter.